FOOD PROCESSING

FOOD & BEVERAGE • CONCEPT TO DELIVERY • PRESENT TO FUTURE • FOODPROCESSING.COM

$15.00

CANNABIS:

Will There Ever Be a Pot of Gold?

Despite all the hype and big-name beer companies involved, CBD and THC are no closer to national approval for food & beverage use.

p22

PET FOOD: A REFLECTION OF OURSELVES
p28

BAKERIES RIPE FOR AUTOMATION
p34

KEEPING SPRING PESTS OUT
p40

FEBRUARY 2020

Chonbuk National Univ. (2)

ISSN : 0015-6523
Food Processing
VOL.81 NO.2

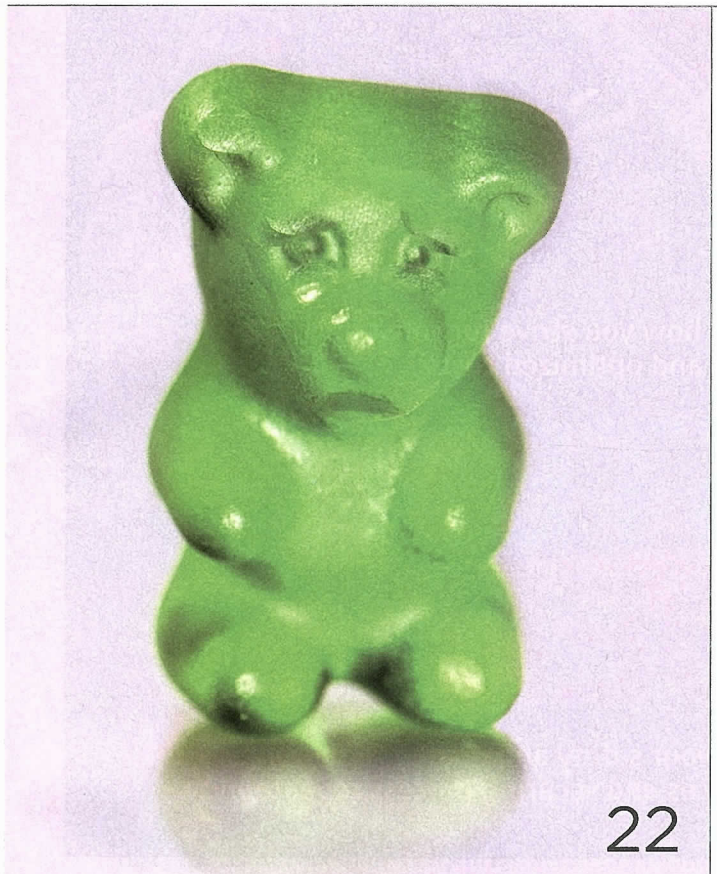
WILL JOURNAL INC.

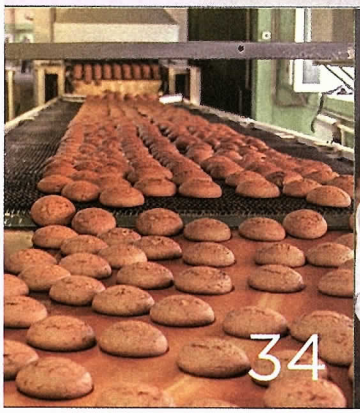
PutmanMedia®

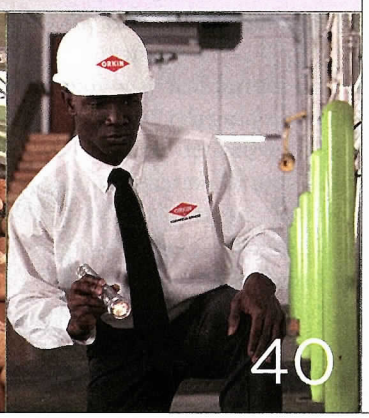
2020.03.20

0015-6523(202002)81:2;1-W

FOOD PROCESSING FEBRUARY20
VOLUME 81, NUMBER 2







COVER STORY

22 CANNABIS: WILL THERE EVER BE A POT OF GOLD?
Despite all the hype and big beer companies involved, CBD and THC are no closer to U.S. national approval for food & beverage use.

FEATURES

28 PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT
Pets: A Reflection of Ourselves
Pet foods increasingly incorporate fruit, alternative proteins and "healthy" options.

34 PLANT OPERATIONS
Automation Grows in Doughs
Despite its batch-oriented, craftsman-like nature, baking is ripe for automation in many aspects.

40 MRO
'How Did That Get In?'
Pests have many ways into a food plant. The right preventive and corrective actions can help keep them out.

43 CASE HISTORY
Choosing X-Ray Over Metal Detectors
Foil lids and a check of fill volume tip the scales in favor of X-ray inspection at a J&J Snack Foods facility.

21

7 Editor's Plate

10 On the Web

12 Food Safety

16 News
Bankrupt Bumble Bee is sold.

20 Rollout
Savor(l)y party bites, cauliflower wings, non-dairy organic frozen desserts, keto-friendly snack cup; and a look at condiments.

32 New Ingredients

45 New Equipment

48 Classified Ads

50 End Flap
Senior Editor Pan Demetrakakes takes a look at the labor shortage.